Climate Change

Education Resources

We would be grateful to receive climate change education resources or materials from members. These should be materials or resources produced by members, and may cover any aspect of climate change for pupils or students in schools, colleges or universities.

The materials will be collated but not edited by the EIS. If there is a large number of submissions we will choose a selection of materials for publication. The selected materials will be shared on our website and, possibly, with other teaching unions' members where those unions are running similar initiatives.

We hope to launch this portal in the run-up to COP26 and it will be available to members for the rest of the school year.
