The weather in Scotland

The weather in Scotland changes during the year. In winter it is cold and rainy. Sometimes there is ice and snow.

In spring it gets warmer and plants and flowers and trees start to grow again.

In summer there is more sunshine and it is warmer.

In autumn it can be very windy. The plants and flowers and leaves on the trees stop growing.

Scotland's poetry

A very well known Scottish poet is Robert (Rabbie) Burns.

He lived in Scotland more than 200 years ago but his poems and songs are still read and sung by millions of people.

He wrote 'Auld Lang Syne' which is sung in many countries in the world at New Year, which is on 1st January.

Today, Scotland’s national poet is called ‘The Makar’. Jackie Kay is Scotland’s Makar now. Some of her poems are about growing up in Scotland.

Do you know of any famous writers or poets where you come from?
